PEOPLE AWARDS | Celebrating the people who bring Sheridan to life.

The Emerging Leader Award

Purpose: Sheridan recognizes that leadership qualities exist at all levels across the organization. This award recognizes an employee who is not in a formal managerial role who displays exemplary leadership qualities.

Eligibility: All non-managerial full-time and part-time employees are eligible to be nominated for the Emerging Leader Award. This includes all administrative employees, support staff and faculty.

Submission Criteria: The Emerging Leader Award will be granted annually to one employee who has demonstrated exceptional achievement and associated behaviours in the following areas:

- Displayed an ignited passion for active learning;
- Demonstrated a commitment to career development as exemplified by the attainment of more advanced roles/accountability;
- Worked toward building a "leaderful" organization, working together to cultivate innovation and lead change;
- Supported and emulated Sheridan's vision, mission, values and strategic goals;
- Lived Sheridan's values by providing a positive experience to our students, colleagues and the community;
- Exemplified the characteristics of leadership;
- Demonstrated professional growth and development in their work;
- Involved in the Sheridan community by participating on committees, volunteering etc.;
  Demonstrated the ability to take the lead on initiatives; builds positive cross-organizational relationships; looks for opportunities; anticipates and responds to organizational needs.

Nomination Process:

The nomination process will take place annually. A call for nominations will be communicated to all employees. Nomination for this award will be available to all employees of Sheridan. We encourage nominations of colleagues whose achievements are truly outstanding in this category. Nominations will be made from Sheridan employees. A nomination committee appointed by the President and Vice Presidents will review the nominations submitted for this award. The award will be granted to an individual who demonstrates the greatest competencies or accomplishments meeting the submission criteria.

All nominees and the successful employee will be announced and recognized and will be invited to a formal celebration.

DANCING TO THE TOP

by Sarah Taylor

IMAGINE STANDING ON STAGE IN front of thousands of people, scared, nervous, but most of all feeling a rush of excitement more powerful than anything you've ever felt before. As the lights go up, you're left with two things – a feeling of complete concentration and of course, the beat.

Three years ago Wayne Carrasco, Mark Razo and Majoire Santos created the dance crew GeekFreaks in order to tell their side of hip hop while attending Durham College. Carrasco is now in his third year of Advertising, Razo is a graduate of the Mechanical Electronics Engineering Technology program and Santos was in his second year of the Business – General program. Any member of the GeekFreaks can now tell you what it takes to be a successful dancer.

"After winning our first competition, I knew we were onto something," said Carrasco. "There were a lot of people out there who didn't think we had what it takes to dance at a competitive level. Today, I can tell you we were the opening act for Summer Jam, danced at Youth Day in front of 15,000 people, and appeared in several music videos. As the three-year mark of GeekFreaks approaches, and the awards keep coming in, I think we've turned most of the non-believers into fans."

At Summer Jam, a concert held in Kitchener, Ont., the GeekFreaks opened for well-known hip hop artists T-Pain, Rick Ross, Fabulous and Busta Rhymes. The music videos they've appeared in include Milkshakes and Razorblades by Kardinal and illScarlett, as well as Ups and Downs by Najjah Calibur. They were invited to the MuchMusic Video Awards and also danced at the Durham College's annual CampusFest concert.

The group's most recent accomplishment was winning the Ontario University Competition for Hip Hop (OUCH) 2010, Canada's biggest college/university hip hop dance competition.

"I had no idea we were going to take first," said Cindy Hau Lam, a GeekFreaks crew member. "On stage waiting for the awards my heart was beating so hard and fast. When they announced third and second place, I knew we didn't make it, but it was okay, because our whole team wasn't even in it for the win. We just wanted to have fun and represent Durham College and UOIT. When they announced that we had won first place, I was in shock, speechless and so happy I wanted to cry!"

Most dancers wait years to gain the amount of success and exposure GeekFreaks has attained in three short years. By the end of 2011, GeekFreaks will have appeared at the Junos and Canadian Music Week in Toronto, Ont. and Youth Day 2011 in Montreal, Que. among other events.

"Winning put Oshawa on the radar for their up-and-coming talent within Ontario universities and colleges. Looking back at what started with three individuals with a shared passion of dancing, I am extremely proud of what has become of the GeekFreaks," said Razo. "The success of a dance group is the dream of any dancer, and I can say that my dreams have come true."
